How is your personal information collected?

Stormont Trading may collect this information in a variety of ways. For example, data might be contained in application forms, obtained from your passport or other identity documents, or collected through interviews or other forms of assessment.

Stormont Trading may also collect personal data about you from third parties, such as references supplied by former employers, information from employment background check providers and information from criminal records checks.

Data will be stored in a range of different places, including on your application record, in HR management systems and on other IT systems (including email).

What do we do with it?

For the purposes of GDPR, Stormont Trading has a legitimate interest in processing personal data during the application process and for keeping records of the process to appoint a suitable candidate. In some cases, Stormont Trading needs to process data to ensure that it is complying with its legal obligations. For example, it is required to check a successful applicant's eligibility to work in the UK before employment.

Stormont Trading may process special categories of data, such as information about ethnic origin, sexual orientation or religion or belief, to monitor recruitment statistics. It may also collect information about whether or not applicants are disabled to make reasonable adjustments for candidates who have a disability. Stormont Trading processes such information to carry out its obligations and exercise specific rights in relation to employment. Stormont Trading may also need to process data from job applicants to respond to and defend against legal claims.

Providing your job application data is voluntary, however, if you choose not to provide all the data that is requested for your application, our ability to consider you as a candidate may be limited or we may be prevented from meeting our legal obligations (such as to ensure your health and safety).

We will only use your personal information for the purposes for which we collected it, unless we reasonably consider that we need to use it for another reason, and that reason is compatible with the original purpose. If we need to use your data for an unrelated purpose, we will notify you and we will explain the legal basis which allows us to do so.

All the personal data we process about you for this purpose is kept and processed within the European Economic Area.

Please note that we may process your personal information without your knowledge or consent, in compliance with the above rules, where this is required or permitted by law.

Automated Decision Making

We do not envisage that any decisions will be taken about you using automated means, however we will notify you in writing if this position changes.

Who has access to your data?

Your information may be shared internally for the purposes of the recruitment process. This includes members of the HR and recruitment team, interviewers involved in the recruitment process, managers in the service area with a vacancy if access to the data is necessary for the performance of their roles.

We may have to share your data with third parties, including third-party service providers, for example IT network support (including remote support) and professional advisers where necessary, who may be party to confidential discussions related to an individual. We may share your data with former employers to obtain references for you, employment background check providers to obtain necessary background checks and the Disclosure and Barring Service to obtain any necessary criminal records checks.

We require third parties to respect the security of your data and treat it in accordance with the law. We will share your information with third parties where required by law, where it is necessary to administer our relationship with you or where we have another legitimate interest. All our third party service providers are required to take appropriate security measures to protect your personal information in line with our policies. We only permit them to process your personal data for specified purposes and in accordance with our instructions

Data Security

Stormont Trading takes the security of your data seriously. We have internal policies and controls in place to ensure that your data is not lost, accidentally destroyed, misused or disclosed, or subject to unauthorised access. Where we engage third parties to process personal data on our behalf they are under a duty of confidentiality and are obliged to implement appropriate technical and organisational measures to ensure the security of data.

We have put in place procedures to deal with any suspected data security breach and will notify you and any applicable regulator of a suspected breach where we are legally required to do so.

Data Retention

If your application for employment is unsuccessful, Stormont Trading will hold your data on file for 6 months after the end of the relevant recruitment process. At the end of that period or once you withdraw your consent, your data is deleted or destroyed.

If your application for employment is successful, personal data gathered during the recruitment process will be transferred to your personnel file and retained during your employment. The periods for which your data will be held will be provided to you in a new privacy notice.
